Reading Recommendation

This book is the sixth in the Mentoring Perspectives Series, edited by Dr. Frances Kochan former Dean of the College of Education at Auburn University. This latest book in the series, co-edited by Linda J. Searby and Susan K. Brondyk, brings together reports of recent research on mentoring in K-12 settings for new teachers and new principals.

Becoming a Guest Reviewer

The Connect Magazine, an online, peer-reviewed publication, seeks peer reviewers and guest peer reviewers (one issue commitment-may be IMA member or non-member). Peer review members will provide constructive and thorough feedback to contributing authors via the IMA Publications Committee. Peer review members are appointed on a no-fee basis.

If you have any questions, contact tlchrisman@mentoringassociation.org

NEW DOCU-SERIES LOOKING FOR WOMEN EMBARKING ON A NEW CHAPTER IN THEIR LIVES

From the television producers that brought you docu-series on History, Bravo, FYI and Discovery comes a project that seeks to highlight the unique, redemptive stories of life after prison.

Are you between the ages of 18-35 and have recently been released from prison? Have you served a sentence of one year or more and are currently struggling with reacclimating to life after incarceration? Are you ready to embark on the next stage in your life?

If so, we want to hear from you!

For more information, please send your name, age, location and a brief bio to: laura.clements@loudtelevision.com
